

SOIL FORENSICS
INTERNATIONAL

Digging for clues

How soil is helping to solve crimes

A public lecture
by Professor James Robertson
National Manager
Forensic Laboratories of the Australian Federal Police

IN ASSOCIATION WITH
THE 2ND INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON SOIL FORENSICS

1st November 2007

HERIOT WATT UNIVERSITY, EDINBURGH. 4PM

FREE ENTRY
PRE-BOOKING REQUIRED

Hosted by:
The Macaulay Institute, U.K.
NSRI, Cranfield University, U.K.

In association with:
Centre for Australian Forensic
Soil Science, Australia

Prof. James Robertson PSM

Professor James Robertson is a real-life CSI! Born in Scotland, he graduated from the Universities of Glasgow and Strathclyde. After moving to Australia he became National Manager of Forensic and Technical issues at the Australian Federal Police and now holds posts at universities in Adelaide and Canberra. He has worked on many cases and enquiries into wrongful convictions, and was recently awarded the Australian Public Service Medal for services to forensic science and law enforcement.

FREE Tickets available from:
Jane Lund, The Macaulay Institute, Aberdeen. T: 01224 498200 • j.lund@macaulay.ac.uk

Organisers

Sponsors

www.soilforensicsinternational.org